

Solitune

„The 'Haus' Band from Eschenbach is an idiosyncratic quartet. Post-rock-capers are contrasted with breakbeat-like riff rhythemics, charged, transported. The Band operates with different modules, that are brought to structure and drive. There arise mighty sound-walls, surprising turns, wonderful bolts from the blue. Solitune are not monosyllabic pop-hymnists. They prefer to move in zones of dissonance, rough tunes, rhythmically and dynamically broken up structures. They definitely belong to the more inventive indie rock bands in this country“
Pirmin Bossart, NLZ, 26.5.2003 (German/English translation by Roman Dubach)

Bio

Since 1998 Solitune are playing in unchanged formation in their old farmhouse („Haus“) in Eschenbach, nearby Lucerne. There they have developed in night long jams their style. Free arrangements gradually gave way to concise songs.

With these songs Solitune went public from 2000 on. After numerous gigs all over Switzerland they have matured to a intensive and emotional live band, that inspires the audience with their original and authentic rock music.

The session in the studio at the end of 2004 was the logical consequence. January 1st Solitune have released their debut EP „O.k. Rewind“.

Music

The four guys took their time with professional recordings. After over six years of band history they went for the first time to a studio („Foolpark“ based in Zug) to record six of their songs.

The result is a pride of howling wolves, driven by instincts, moonstruck, aggressive. The songs are power plants loaded with emotions, straightforward, honest, always surprising and never exhausted.

On „O.k. Rewind“ there are four young musicians at work, who have committed themselves to their doing with heart and soul.
